

New Barber Concern

John Watts and Percy French
Form Partnership, To Occupy Latter's Shop

When John Watts turned the key in his Pleasant street, barber shop end of an eight years' tenancy and late Saturday night it marked the beginning of a new era in his 40 years' service as a tonsorialist.

Business has been crowding so rapidly upon this popular "barb" that he felt the necessity of a change, and has formed a partnership with Percy French, whose shop is located directly opposite Hotel Rockland. Thither he moved his jares and penates yesterday.

In the four decades of his barbering business Mr. Watts has shaved and clipped in a considerable section of the country—Rockland, Boston, Worcester, Florida and North Carolina among other places holding a record every where for ready repartee.

Mr. French was formerly of Camden, and at one time employed in Bridgton. He located in Rockland five years ago.

ANALYZING PROPOSED CHARTER

Judge Pike Points Out Sections He Thinks
Against the Public Interest

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—
I hope that every voter will take the time to read the proposed City Manager Charter before voting. I have, and here are some provisions in it that are highly objectionable:

Judge Elisha W. Pike

Article II Section 205 of the proposed Charter provides that the City Council may abolish all Ward lines and reduce the City to one Ward. Section 207 provides that a City Council composed of five Members, a majority of which is three, is authorized and empowered to enact an ordinance establishing a Municipal dock or pier, and appropriate money for its acquisition and may take land or water privileges by the right of eminent domain.

This is an extraordinary power to confer on a bare majority of the City Council, and if exercised, the sky will be the limit for your taxes. Why adopt a Charter that will confer the right to take land for a Municipal pier, whether private owners want to sell or not, and appropriate thousands of dollars. What public need is there that would justify such expenditure and why should such authority be conferred. Are not your taxes high enough now?

Section 218 Provides that three members of the City Council shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. In a previous article I stated that the Aldermen under the proposed New Charter would be merely figure heads. Here is proof of it:

Section 234, provides as follows: "Neither the City Council nor any of its Committees or members shall dictate the appointment of any person to office, or employment by the City Manager, or in any manner interfere with the City Manager or prevent him from exercising his own judgment in the appointment of officers and employees in the administrative service. Except for the purpose of inquiry the Council and its members shall deal with the administrative service solely through the City Manager, and neither the Council or any member thereof shall give orders to any subordinates of the City Manager either publicly or privately." End of quote.

I presume that after the Aldermen have been sworn in, they may have their pictures taken, shake hands with the City Manager and promptly retire to their respective homes.

Section 301 provides that the City Manager need not be a resident of the City of Rockland or of the State of Maine. Candidates in Ashtabula, Ypsilanti and way stations take notice.

Section 302 provides that the City Manager may remove all officers and employees of the city except as otherwise provided by the Charter. It is apparent that if the proponents of this Charter have their way, we shall have a Czar that will put Stalin to shame. Do you think it safe or wise to put such totalitarian power in any imported official who must necessarily be a stranger and unfamiliar as a paratrooper, with the territory in which he has been dropped.

Sections 501 and 510 create two new offices for which substantial

Rockland Is Ready For Tonight's Big V-J Day
Celebration—What Will Happen

Five minutes before Rockland's V-J Day parade gets its marching orders, tonight, the Fire Department's diaphone will sound three times, and it will be the signal for such a racket as Rockland has never heard—a racket which will put to shame the din which was made by auto horns on the night the news came of Japan's surrender. Church bells will ring, steam whistles will blow, auto horns will blast, and the human voice will add its vocal powers.

And then down to the real business of the big parade, the details of which are published below. In order that the parade may be a complete success, and its movements unimpeded, the Police Department has issued positive orders that there must be no parked motor cars for one hour before 6:30 p. m. on the parade route, which is: Main street, north to Rankin, Rankin to Union, Union to Park and Park to Main.

Music for the parade will be furnished by the Rockland City Band, Camden High School Band, Waldobor High School Band, and the band from the Maine Maritime Academy at Castine.

The events following the parade are—

At 7:30 p. m.—Memorial service at the Kiwanis Honor Roll, corner of Main and Elm streets, with address by Chaplain Walter C. Rasche of the Coast Guard base. Invocation by Rev. Fr. James F. Savage and the placing of wreaths by Winslow-Holbrook Post, A. L. and the Kiwanis Club.

8:15 p. m.—Band concerts in front of Hotel Rockland, the Thorndike Hotel and Elks Home.

9 p. m.—Bonfire at Schofield-White Park, burning 500 gallons of crank case oil. Music by the massed bands.

9:30 p. m.—Street dance on Tillson avenue, with music by a large orchestra.

Rockland's V-J Day celebration, scheduled to commence promptly at 6:30 Tuesday night, will be a four feature event, starting off with a mammoth parade, followed by exercises at the War Honor Roll, a huge bonfire at Schofield-White Park, and a street dance on Tillson's avenue.

Having been appointed Marshal of the V-J Day parade, Tuesday, Sept. 2, I hereby issue the following orders and appointments:

Chief of Staff, Levi R. Flint, C.B.M., U.S.C.G.R.

Second Division will form on Florence street, right of line resting on South Main street.

Third Division will form on Pleasant street, right of line resting on Main street.

All organizations participating in the parade will be at their respective place not later than 6:10 p. m.

Parade will start 6:30 p. m., moving over the following route:

Gen. Berry Square, North on Main street to Rankin street, to Union street, along Union to Park street, down Park street to Main, where parade will be dismissed.

Loses Life In Texas

Pfc. George A. Lawry of Vinalhaven Killed in Crash

Nine men and a WAC private from Hondo Army Air Field were killed Saturday and five were injured in a B-24 Liberator training plane crash on a ranch two miles north of Hondo (Texas) Field.

The crash occurred at 5:55 a. m., shortly after the plane took off from the field.

Three of the injured were in critical condition.

Among those who lost their lives was Pfc. George A. Lawry. He was 23 years of age and a son of Mrs. Grace Lawry of Vinalhaven.

A Split Season

The New Arrangement Will Please Army Of Woodcock
Hunters

For the first time this year Maine will have a split woodcock season, a circumstance that will bring joy to gunners. Previously there was a 14-day open season Oct. 10-24. This year a full month's hunting will be on tap. Gunners may hunt covers in Aroostook, Penobscot, Piscataquis and Oxford Counties from Oct. 1 through Oct. 15 and the balance of the State from then through Oct. 30.

Maine has the best woodcock gunning in the country but under the old law the flights and the season did not always coincide. Now, by moving around a little bit, gunners can't miss.

Outlook for the waterfowl season Sept. 20 to Dec. 8, looks good at this time although the full story will not be known until the big northern flights put in an appearance. Generally, the local hatch was good.

Although all reports do not agree, it seems to be the consensus thatuffed grouse are well toward the top of the cycle and that good gunning is in prospect.

The deer season in Maine this year is the same. In Aroostook, Penobscot, Somerset, Piscataquis, Franklin and Oxford counties it is from Oct. 21 through the month of November. In all other counties the opening gun is fired Nov. 1 and hunting continues through the month. One deer of either sex may be shot.

ARRIVED AT SAIPAN

Mrs. Robie F. Ames Jr. of Camden has recently received a letter from her husband saying that he had just arrived at Saipan in the Marianas Islands. Before entering the service in February, 1945, Pvt. Ames was employed by the Central Maine Power Co. in Rockland. He trained at Camp Gordon, Georgia in the Infantry Replacement Training Corps.

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Wishman of Perth Amboy, N. J., spent the weekend with their daughter Mrs. Elbridge Grafton, Brooklyn Heights, Thomaston.

The Black Cat

(By The Roving Reporter)

I suppose there are hundreds of other spots in Maine where they have just as good times as they do in Friendship, but for congenial relationship it is hard to see where that town could be bettered, scenically or socially. I dined the other night at The Lobster Pot, where the Summer folks, sitting at one large table, were making a merry feast. And when the dessert dishes had been cleared away, what do you suppose happened. Peeking into the kitchen I chanced to see these self-same Summer folks "doing the dishes" and humming or whistling as the spirit moved. It was the busiest week of the Summer, and the Summer visitors were only too willing to co-operate during the "help" shortage.

The Black Cat columnist of The Courier-Gazette thinks that if our grandmothers should appear on the streets wearing their bustles and hoop skirts, they would create no end of excitement these days. They probably would, but it would not be a circumstance to what the modern, dressed, or undressed young lady, created, if they could go back to the days of our grandmothers and appear out in the kind of clothes they are wearing these days. Times change and we would not have them stay as they were, although we look back at those days with nostalgia sometimes.—From Bridgton News.

Eagle Wings. Author Hardwick Ruth. Published by Dorance & Company, Philadelphia.

This poetry composition breathes freely and clearly with glimpses of the world below where the "Eagle Wings" fly.

It is a story of clear and worthy understanding of war and life, and the drama, pathos and hunger of hearts, with some humor thrown in.

There are numerous poems of worthy emotional understanding and composition. Thus part 1 is "Eagle Wings;" Part II, "Sky-larks Wings;" and Part III, "Doves Wings." A new conception for addressing an audience by the Author W. Hardwick Ruth which is most intriguing in a new line of thought weaving.

Proof of the Pudding. Author Phoebe Atwood Taylor. Published by the W. W. Norton Co., New York.

There are many problem stories with mystery attached written today; but few have the smoothly thought out accent and arrival at base which Asey Mayo brings to the reader. With this dry humor and shrewd detecting which always satisfies the reader; and Asey is no other than Phoebe Atwood Taylor. Her bright dialogue wins the heart, with desire for more. In this story a hurricane's debris is encountered, as Asey drives along a beach—and there was found the body of a girl he at once felt sure had been murdered, with Cape Cod the locality.

The reader will be surprised to find a Siamese cat had much to do with the final solution of the mystery. "Proof of the Pudding" is a clearly written yarn of the better class in the detective and matchless mystery group, growing longer every day.

Bonus Abolished

But Seamen's Basic Pay Has Been Raised $45 Per Month

The Government has abolished the seamen's wartime "voyage" bonus for plying dangerous waters, but raised his basic pay $45 monthly and retained premiums for actual encounters with lingering mines.

The War Labor Board, in its first wage decision since Japanese victory permitted a relaxed pay policy, granted the monthly raise to offset the loss in earnings from dropping of the bonus, which is effective Oct. 1. The action affects 100,000 seamen in dry cargo operations.

The bonus at one time amounted to as much as 100 per cent, or $100, whichever was higher. After V-E Day, the Maritime War Emergency Board cut this, and announced, simultaneously with the WLB order, the elimination of the bonus altogether, either in the Atlantic or Pacific.

Underneath the Government's concerted action was the danger of a manpower shortage on vessels needed to bring home the victorious armies, or to supply forces occupying Germany and Japan.

The Maritime Board was warned by unionists at a hearing last week that men were leaving the service rapidly and would not return to sea because of prospective loss of the bonus.

[EDITORIAL]

TONIGHT LET US ALL "HOLLER"

It hardly seems necessary to urge our citizens to join wholeheartedly in tonight's celebration of Japan's surrender. Stout lungs and stout hearts will do their level best to tell the world how glad we are.

Hard-working committees have labored valiantly to produce a celebration which will be a full credit to the city. Visitors from neighboring towns will be especially welcome, and may they join us in making the welkin ring.

We admire the seagulls as they make their graceful flights inland; we admire them for the unity which appears to exist among them, but we do not admire the thievery which they practice upon our blueberry fields. But according to the Christian Science Monitor something new has been checked up to their credit. The Monitor says:

"A press service story from Nebraska tells how great flocks of gulls have been saving the crops in that area. Though far inland from their usual haunts, these sea birds swoop down on clouds of grasshoppers that have been threatening the small grain and corn, and spare much of it from serious damage. Previously word from eastern South Dakota told much the same story. There, as in many places in the Nation's vast breadbasket area, grasshoppers have been a threat for more than 10 years. Though it has been some time since they did major damage to crops in the fields, it looked like serious trouble this year, according to Doane H. Robinson, who speaks as a pioneer historian of the West."

"It will be remembered that, in the early days of the West, the first crops in Utah, planted by Mormon settlers, were threatened by grasshoppers, when the sudden appearance of sea gulls saved them. In gratitude, a monument was erected to the birds which may still be seen in Salt Lake City. The appearance of gulls again over the fertile inland fields of the United States is cause for gratitude in view of the world's needs."

THE WAR IS REALLY OVER

The Allied Nations have had much occasion for rejoicing since hostilities ceased in Japan, but the supreme moment of our joy came Saturday night when the surrender terms were officially signed on aboard the mammoth battleship Missouri. The radio and the press have already recited the details, and there remains little to be said except a summarization of the terms. Article by article here is what Japan agreed to do under the terms of surrender:

1. Accept all provisions of the Potsdam declaration.
2. Surrender unconditionally all armed forces.
3. Cease hostilities forthwith and preserve and save from damage all ships, aircraft and military and civil property.
4. Command Imperial General Headquarters to issue orders to all field commanders everywhere to surrender their forces unconditionally.
5. See that all civil, military and naval officials obey and enforce all orders of the Supreme Allied Commander.
6. Carry out in good faith under Allied direction the Potsdam declaration, under which free institutions may be established leading to the restoration of sovereignty.
7. Liberate all Allied war prisoners and civilian internees and see that they arrive safely at debarkation points.
8. Acknowledge that the authority of the emperor and the Japanese government is subject to the will of the Supreme Commander.

And to the occasion the President attributed a four-fold significance:

- "For this Country—a day for renewed consecration to the principles which have made us the strongest nation on earth and which, in this war, we have striven so mightily to preserve."
- "For Japan—an end of 'power to destroy and kill.'"
- "For the World—a bright new era of hope for peace and international goodwill and cooperation."
- "For history—The day of formal surrender by Japan."

He has gone to Port Jackson, S. C., awaiting orders.

Sgt. Everett W. Tolman of Springfield, N. J., formerly of Vinalhaven, has been given a Certificate of Merit. The certificate reads: "From the 28th of Oct. 1944 to 8th of May 1945 Sgt. Tolman performed his duties as assistant squad leader in an assault rifle company in a highly exemplary manner. In all phases of the operations he displayed sound tactical judgment and initiative in operations against strong enemy forces. He has repeatedly displayed great heroism and grim determination in the face of intense enemy fire and adverse conditions, thereby reflecting great credit upon himself and the military service."

He is now with the Eighth Service Command at Camp Bowie, Texas. Lake Placid Club, New York, Aug. 30, 1945: Pvt. Francis L. Harmon of 118 Park street, Rockland, son of Mrs. Mary F. Harmon who recently returned from overseas duty, has reported to the Army Ground & Service Forces Redistribution Station at Lake Placid Club, New York.

Pvt. Harmon entered the service in October, 1943 and fought overseas for 15 months with the 88th (Blue Devil) Division in the European Theatre of Operations. He was a prisoner of war.

The overseas veteran is here primarily to be processed for his next Army job. He receives a thorough physical examination, talks over his background with classification experts, has his records checked and takes part in information and education discussions.

Aside from these appointments, the returnee is free to enjoy the wide variety of sport and entertainment facilities provided at the Club. Golf, tennis, boating, bicycling, fishing, picnics, swimming in season, movies, shows and dances are among the amusements available.

University Study Center, Florence, Italy—Master Sergeant Herbert E. Poland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Heal of 15 T street, Rockland, and Corp. Cecil E. Barter of Isle au Haut, recently completed a four-week term at the Mediterranean Theatre's University Study Center, Florence, Italy.

The 1200 soldiers, many former combat men, attending classes at this first full-time Army college overseas, have the benefit of the University's 10 modern buildings, a swimming pool, and 190 hand-picked instructors. Classes in 85 subjects average 30 students each, allowing ample time for individual instruction.

The school's aim is to enable soldiers awaiting re-deployment to spend their time profitably. Two four-week terms at the University Training Center are equal to one semester in most civilian schools, and credits towards degrees are given for this study by many American colleges.

Overseas 34 months, Sergeant Poland wears the Good Conduct Ribbon, American Defense Ribbon (Pre-Pearl Harbor) and the Mediterranean theatre ribbon with seven battle participation stars.

With the 35th Infantry Division, Assembly Area Command, France—Cpl. Osmond C. Woodman is en route home from Europe with the 5-Star "Sante Fe" Division, which in ten months battled across the Elbe River to within 42 miles of Berlin.

The 35th ended its occupational duties in Germany during the second week of July and moved to Camp Norfolk, one of the Assembly Area Command's 17 redeployment camps near Reims. Elements of the Division served as Honor Guards for President Truman when he arrived at Antwerp.

Hitting a beach head, July 7, 1944, the 35th forced the Germans from St. Lo, broke the counter-offensive at Mortain, swept across France, cracked into Germany's Saar Valley on December 12, and then whipped into Belgium and Luxembourg to wither Von Rundstedt's Ardennes bulge.

Thanks From Holland

Country Was Grateful For Sardines Shipped To the Hungry People

The North Lubec Manufacturing and Canning Co. is in receipt of the following interesting letter from Vlaadrigren, Holland, sent by Drop & Goedknegt, exporters of Holland herring and mackerel:

"We owe your address to the tins of Eagle Brand Sardines, which you have sent to Holland. You will understand, that the people here were very glad when this food arrived after a long time of hunger we have had here. Holland thanks you for this relief and will never forget this noble action."

"Further we have to thank you and your country for the liberation of our country, which saved us from complete ruin. Once more thanks. "As fish merchants and exporters of Holland herring, we should be very glad to hear from you, if it is possible to do business with you in the near future. Before 1940 we have always done business with your country and shipped large quantities of Holland herring. As 95% of the herring vessels were seized by the Germans, it will not be possible to export herrings to the United States within a short time. It will, however, take much time to build up our fishing fleet. Perhaps at a later date, we can do business in Holland herring, if you are interested."

Den 3 The Winner

Cub pack No. 204 held its second pack meeting Aug. 18. It was in the form of a picnic at Dick's Beach. While the cubs and their parents were gathering, a game of "Simon Says," was conducted by Cub-Master Paul Merriam. Harold Sylvester of Den 2 was the winner in this game.

At 3 the group moved to a large field overlooking the beach. After a few minutes of vigorous foot-work on the part of the boys, the field was made ready for the Cub track meet.

The first event was a relay, won by Den 3. Event 2 was a 40-yard dash, that was really a dash from start to finish. Den 3 also won this event. The third event was an exciting wheel-barrow race which was the most amusing part of the "Meet." Den 3 which seemed to be having a winning streak took this event by half a length. Den 2 being close behind.

After a short get-together the judges, Cub-Master Paul Merriam, ACM, Alfred Levinthal, Albert Marsh and Herman Hart, came to the conclusion that Den 3 was the winner of the meet with a score of 18 points. Den 1 was second with seven points, Den 2 third with six points and Den 4 fourth with two points.

A three-inning game of softball was played with John Blackman acting Den Chief of Den 3 as captain of one team and Richard Roberts, Den Chief of Den 3, captain of the other. The exact turn out of the game is not known. After returning to the beach came the long waited for, "eats." Before eating however many cubs went in bathing and doubled their already robust appetites.

Preceding the picnic lunch came the presentation of two cub badges. The Bobcat pin went to James Cornell and the wolf badge to Manley Hart, both of Den 3. A very special award, a gold arrow point, was to be presented to Theodore Strong Jr., but he was unable to be present.

Richard Roberts accepted on behalf of his den a very attractive banner which read, "Cub Champs." Fifty-seven persons attended and enjoyed the picnic which was closed at 5.30 by Cubmaster Paul Merriam.

BROTHERS COMPOSE A SONG

Pfc. Joe Vanorse

Seaman S2c Bert J. Vanorse

I am ready to let my friends know that my song titled "The Soldier's Dream" is now ready for purchase at the Maine Music Store. I have the permission of Mr. French that I may do so. I treasure both the words and music, not only as a song, but as a soldier's thoughts, possibly those of my brother who was stationed at Fort Sheridan, will be liked by everyone. It was started by him and then finished by me later. He is Pfc. Joe Vanorse now somewhere overseas. Upon my discharge from the Navy, I had it published so to see if my friends and also the public will be as pleased with it as I know my close friends were. I want to thank all those who have bought a copy.

A Photo History

Of Important War Work In Which Corp. Ramquist of Rockport Is Engaged

ATC Base, Abadan, Iran—Recently transferred to the Air Transport Command and stationed at Abadan Air Base, Iran, is Corporal Elbert M. Ramquist, of Rockport, a former photographer with the famed 15th Air Force in Italy.

While with the 15th, Cpl. Ramquist photographed the history of the heavy bombardment unit of which he was a member, for over a year until his recent transfer to this base. He trained at the Army Air Forces photo school at Lowry Field, Colorado, before coming overseas in March, 1944. While in the United States he served at Pueblo Army Air Base in Colorado.

At Abadan Air Base, he makes a pictorial review of the work of this base as it carries on in the great task before the North African Division of the ATC, the two-fold program of transporting a total war-half-way around the world and at the same time, flying 40,000 veterans of Europe and the East to the United States. This greatest troop movement in the history of aviation is being carried out across the vast air routes of this division extending from Natal, Brazil to Karachi, India.

Every activity of this division is recorded through the lens of Cpl. Ramquist's news camera. Everything from photographing the planes which are flying the great air routes of this division to the men and the duties they are performing. Past-time sports and activities, new training aids, and every phase of training is depicted through Ramquist's photos. In addition to taking the pictures, he develops and prints negatives and also works with base security officers in processing secret films.

Cpl. Ramquist, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Churchill, 4 Spruce street, Rockport, entered the armed forces in January, 1942.

Political Points

Moran Now Mentioned As Secretary of Labor If Schwelienbach Goes Up

Doris Westall, political observer for the Portland Sunday Telegram writes:

"They were saying in Washington last week that Edward C. Moran, Jr., of Rockland, now in the Labor Department, may become Secretary of Labor, if his good friend, Lewis B. Schwelienbach, incumbent, becomes an Associated Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court, a post for which he is being mentioned in Democratic circles."

"The departure the first of next month of James A. Mossman, commissioner of finance and budget officer, for a position in New York with American Airlines left many real regrets among department heads and others who had business with Mossman and regarded him highly. While the Governor's office indicated the position might not be filled immediately, friends of James J. Allen, State Controller, were recommending him as Mossman's successor.

"Frederick G. Payne of Waldoboro, who preceded Mossman in office before joining the armed forces, was also regarded as a likely appointee. Friends continued to urge his candidacy for governor in the Republican primaries in 1943, pointing out that his interest in the industrial development of Maine was in line with plans underway. As mayor of Augusta, he was credited with helping to bring Maine seven new industries. Payne has also been mentioned in connection with a post on the Maine Development Commission, whose post-war plans would be made known within a fortnight, according to Executive Secretary Everett N. Gration."

Feathers In A Gale

Warren Audiences Treated To An Exceptionally Fine Bit of Play Acting

"Feathers in a Gale," royalty comedy, opened Wednesday night last week, and was presented most successfully two nights at Town Hall, by the Warren Civic Players, under the able direction of George W. J. Carr, of Safety Harbor, Fla.

The audience was deeply appreciative of the production, both in the story woven in the Cape Cod romance, and in its setting, and costumes, both authentic to the period of 1804, true of the piece. This was made possible by the loan of some very lovely antiques for the stage setting, by the clever casting and costuming of the players, accomplished by Mr. Carr, and by Mrs. Willis Vinal, who had charge of costumes and the casting.

Each part in this comedy, was a major one, and no one of the Warren players really stole the show, for no one out-played the other.

The characters were vital, humorous, dramatic and interesting. From the two widows, parts played by Mrs. Lillian Mathews and Mrs. Mary Halligan; Mrs. Carrie Wyllie, in whose home they lived; William Robinson, a domestic, Miss Muriel French, a neighbor; Willis R. Vinal, an old sea captain, retired; the village pastor, by Herbert Thomas; the swashbuckling captain of the whaler ship in port, by Michael Halligan; a member of the board of selectmen, by Ernest B. Lamb, Mrs. Olive Boggs, as wife of one of the selectmen, by Miss Esther Young as the inn keeper. Each was brilliantly played and the combination made this one of the best plays ever put on in Warren.

Between the acts, adding much to the sociability and creating a real theatre atmosphere, punch was served by Mrs. Albert White, and Mrs. Dana Smith Sr., assisted by ushers. Mrs. Roland Berry, head usher, and Miss Evelyn Smith, Miss Ruth Pease, Miss Mary Drevett, Miss Joyce Halligan, Miss Beth Robinson, Miss Joyce Butler, Miss Pauline Anderson, Miss Virginia Underwood, and Miss Jill Cogan.

Thursday evening was designated as patrons' and patronesses' night and following the play, a party was held for the players, at which Mr. Carr presented men of thecast with comb sets, and the ladies with pearl pins, each wrapped in a white box.

Mr. Carr had on Tuesday night received a gift from the cast, and Mrs. Vinal was presented with flowers.

Proceeds were given over to the Congregational Church Repair fund with the exception of the gift bags, proceeds of which went to the Woman's Club.

Programs for the play were nicely done, and carried a short historical sketch of Warren in 1804, in which attention was called by Mr. Carr to the co-incidence of names in Warren, with the play characters.

The special stage effects including lighting were made possible by the co-operation and workmanship of Maurice Cunningham, Charles Overlock, Maynard Leach, Ralph Robinson, Edwin Gammon, Percy Bowley, and William Cunningham. This has been much appreciated by all who worked with the production.

W. IRVING ELWELL

A long period of ill health, which followed a serious accident on Main street, resulted Saturday forenoon in the death of W. Irving Elwell, who, until that accident had ended his active career, was dean of the Rockland barbers.

Mr. Elwell was a former resident of Ingraham Hill. Boyhood was still upon him when he became a barber's apprentice in the shop of the late Ferdinand G. Singh. With the exception of a comparatively short period, during which he worked at his trade in Boston, Mr. Elwell's life was spent here in his home city, and hundreds of patrons, the majority of whom have long since passed on, knew his ministrations. He was long reputed to be one of the city's best hair-cutters.

As in all barber shops, daily heckling was a matter of course, and the interchange of raillery found "Huffy" always ready to hold his own against all comers.

Elwell's barber shop became an institution as the years advanced, and former residents, home on a vacation, seldom failed to assemble there to enjoy the "give and take" conversation. "Huffy"-for most customers knew him by that name-had barbered better than 55 years, and no enemy was ever recorded among his acquaintances. Friends to the end, they were.

Mr. Elwell is survived by his wife, formerly Lillian A. Ladd. A daughter, Amber, died some years ago.

Services were held yesterday afternoon at the Russell funeral home, Rev. Dr. John Smith Lowe officiating. Surrounding the casket were many beautiful flowers. The bearers were Ralph Trim, Thomas H. Chisholm, Bert Chase and Carl Ladd. Interment was in Achorn cemetery.

SOCIAL SECURITY HOURS

Advice has been received from John F. Hardy, Regional Director of the Social Security Board, to the effect that all its field and departmental offices will work on a five-day, 40-hour week, effective immediately. Office hours, Monday through Friday, will be 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. In conformity with this advice, L. F. Kittredge, Manager of the Augusta Field Office, Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance, 313 Water street, announces that the office will closed each Saturday thereafter until further notice.

HORDES OF APHIDS

Plant Lice Cause Dismay As the Insects Invade Beacon Hill

A swarm of small green flies filled Mt. Vernon street Thursday noon from the State House to Joy street in such a cloud that men and women alike fled in bewildered confusion.

Watchers from the State House saw two men get out of a car, wave their arms wildly about, leap back into the car and drive off. Women brushed violently as the flies settled on their bare arms. Two sailors broke into a run to get out of the stifling cloud. The flies filled the street to at least the depth of five stories.

The Department of Agriculture says they are aphids or plant lice, that upper currents of air brought them into the city and left them stranded. Similar "flights" occurred in June, 1934; August, 1936, and in September of 1938, 1940 and 1943-Christian Science Monitor.

Mr. Carr had on Tuesday night received a gift from the cast, and Mrs. Vinal was presented with flowers.

Proceeds were given over to the Congregational Church Repair fund with the exception of the gift bags, proceeds of which went to the Woman's Club.

Programs for the play were nicely done, and carried a short historical sketch of Warren in 1804, in which attention was called by Mr. Carr to the co-incidence of names in Warren, with the play characters.

Fishermen Helped

And Are Now Being Thanked
By Uncle Sam For Service

More than 500 fishermen in the First Naval District served commendably as confidential observers during the war and have been issued certificates of appreciation for their services.

The services performed by these men greatly aided in combating the submarine menace in the Atlantic. By using short-wave radios, these observers reported the locations of submarines and convoys there were routed away from the areas where the U-boats were operating. When the German sub commanders became aware they were being reported, they were forced to move under water instead of on the surface, slowing their progress into the areas through which Allied ships might pass.

To some extent, carrier pigeons were used to transmit messages from the fishing fleet to Naval authorities. The fishermen observers also aided materially in rescue work and the recovery of floating materials from lost or damaged ships.

Operating out of 32 ports along the coast of the First Naval District, between Block Island and the Canadian border, more than 340 fishing boats participated in the program from May 1, 1942, to May 31, 1945, when the plan was discontinued. The more than 500 fishermen observers have received certificates from the Eastern Sea Frontier, signed by Vice Admiral W. H. Leary, USN, Commander of the Frontier, and Captain Vincent Astor, USNR, observation officer of the Frontier. They were distributed in this area by Rear Admiral Felix Gyax, USN, Commander of the Northern Group of the Frontier and Commandant of the First Naval District, together with a personal letter of appreciation.

"In recognition of his patriotic services... in Atlantic waters during World War II," the following are among those who were awarded certificates:

HOUSE OF THE MONTH CLUB

Something Pleasingly Different

ROCKLAND LOAN & BUILDING ASSOCIATION

Please note the story in detail adjacent concerning the Plan and this month's beautiful, convenient and inexpensive "Trent." For details contact—

Rockland Loan & Building Association
16 SCHOOL STREET, ROCKLAND PHONE 430

"THE TRENT"

Designed for gracious living and entertaining, this suburban cottage offers the function of modern architecture and yet has all the charm of a Cape Cod home. It permits the use of most types of furniture whereas many of the so-called "moderns" require new and expensive pieces to be consistent with their ultra exteriors.

The main entry with its hooded shelter leads to a small hall with guest closet. The living room, measuring 13 by 22½ feet has a log burning fireplace along the inner wall and directly opposite a picture window overlooking a large paved terrace or patio which is shielded from the street by a hedge or fencing which forms an ideal spot for outdoor living.

The dining space is in the alcove on the street side and may be separated from the living room if desired by means of a curtain on a ceiling track. Adjoining is the large kitchen having cross ventilation. Ample cabinet and case space is provided for all necessary equipment. The service entry is through the utility room which houses the laundry, brooms, mops, etc. The air conditioner and hot water heater are well placed. The yard which skirts this area is protected by a high cedar woven cedar fence and may easily be converted into a play yard for the children.

Attention is directed to the arrangement of the bath containing both a stall shower as well as a recessed tub. A handy linen closet is located just outside the door of this room.

The two larger bedrooms, each with corner windows and excellent closet space are located in the rear to insure the maximum of privacy and quiet. The third bedroom, next to the living room may be used as a den or study because the unusual amount of wall space offer many possibilities of furniture arrangement.

With a frontage of 34 feet, the Trent extends to a depth of 44 feet. Total cubage of this house is approximately 13,000 cubic feet and with a partial basement about 15,000. For a detached garage, an additional 2500 cubic feet should be allowed. The area of this plan, without basement, is 1226 square feet.

The Rockland Loan & Building Association invites you to inspect the ¼" scale blueprints of this house at your convenience. Colored sketches of the architect's rendering and floor plans are available without charge. (A complete scale model of the Trent is also on display). Similar material, relating to many former House-of-the-Month, may also be inspected at this institution.—adv.

Analyzing Charter

salaries must be provided, namely: A Director of Finance and a Purchasing Agent. Fellow taxpayers dig down and find the money, not only to pay them but the City Manager, whose salary in these times would not be less than $4500 or $5000 a year. The Charter makes the creation of these offices mandatory. It must be done. The word "shall" is used.

Section 805 creates three more new offices, namely, a Board of Assessment, Review Fellow taxpayers dig down to pay more salaries. This Board is composed of three members for a term of three years. It has no authority to assess taxes but sits as a Board to review, on real estate assessments. Strange as it may seem there is no authority to review personal property assessments. Said Board has authority to appoint a full time secretary and fix his salary. Dig again my fellow tax sufferers.

In the place of three tax assessors the New Charter provides for only one who shall have complete authority to value all taxpayers' property. If there is any department of Municipal Government that requires full discussion and consultation, it is the assessment of taxes. No one person can have the knowledge to equitably assess our taxes, without the benefit of discussion and suggestions of at least two other members. I know of no town or city in Maine where the authority to assess taxes is vested in one person. Time has proven the wisdom of at least three Member Board.

A Board of Review, with only authority to abate taxes, is composed of three members and may have a paid full time secretary. Nobody has any authority to review the City Manager's official acts. He is a law unto himself. To create a Board to correct the tax assessors' mistakes, is a brand new experiment and will cost with secretarial expense $3000 or $4000. If you like it vote for it.

I have spent hours studying this Charter which contains 42 closely printed pages, one thing that is beyond my comprehension is that proponents of this Charter are obtaining written pledges from men and women who never read it or any part of it, yet blindly sign their names agreeing to vote for it, but knowing nothing of its contents. How can we have intelligent consideration of any public measure, if this practice is to continue? Because it is new, it seems to them to be sufficient reason for voting for it. Never considering that they may be jumping out of the frying pan into the fire.

Section 1401 provides that this Charter shall be voted upon at a special election on the second Monday of this month. The proponents of this Charter know full well that a light vote is cast at any special election and their chances of putting it over are much better than at a State or Municipal election, when the vote polled is three or four times as large.

The proponents are organized, and the opponents unorganized and therefore at a great disadvantage. Unless a large vote is polled, which carries with it a fair expression of our voters, it is not probable that the proponents may win. It is up to the rank and file of the opponents of this Monstrous Charter to remember the second Monday in September, make their presence known at the polls and register a "No" vote. Remember that a stay at home voter is at least a half a vote for the Charter, and may be the means of its adoption.

If every voter who believes as I do will cast his or her vote, the City Manager Charter will be buried without benefit of Clergy. The responsibility is yours.

If you remain away from the polls and would have voted "No," the Charter will probably be adopted. If you let the proponents walk away with the election while the opponents only protest but do not vote, they should forever hold their peace.

A large vote polled is probably the only hope of defeating the Charter. The proponents of this Charter have very craftily considered how best to obtain a majority vote for its adoption. They know that at a special election their chances are 10 times as good, because at a special election a light vote has always resulted. Therefore they saw to it that the Charter provided for such special election. That is one way of foisting an unpopular, expensive and totalitarian system of local government on an unsuspecting public.

This Charter contains no provision for putting the Police and Fire Departments under Civil Service. It was considered however, and the best minds reasoned that the load to adopt this City Manager Charter would be heavy enough without said Civil Service provisions. Full well the proponents know that if the Charter is adopted next Monday all they will need to do is to introduce a Civil Service amendment in the legislature which may adopt it without even a referendum to our voters. It is not uncommon that amendments to City Charters are so made.

That will be the second step in this ill advised reform movement and thereafter there will be life terms in the firemen and police department, and the voters will have nothing to say about it. It seems to me that this Community is not ready to adopt such radical changes in its City Government, but if you give the proponents the whip hand by adopting the Charter, you may expect things to follow that you never dreamed of. No citizen or group of citizens will take the time, and pay the expense of going to Augusta to oppose any amendment to the Charter. In my legislative experience, the public is seldom if ever represented at legislature hearings.

The trap is all set for the second Monday in September. If you walk into it you will do it with your eyes open.

Elisha W. Pike.

The Rotary Club

Members Are Treated To An Interesting Colored Sound Picture

"Trees and Homes" was the interesting colored sound picture shown at the Rotary Club Friday noon. Beautiful forest scenes were depicted and the entire sequence in the life of trees was shown from the felling of the trees, through the efficient processes of handling, cutting and sawing, to the transportation and marketing. The accompanying lecture was exceedingly informative and such information was imparted as that forests cover one-third of the area of the United States and that one single tree, 200 feet in height, will furnish enough lumber for a seven or eight room frame house. Walter C. Ladd of the program committee introduced Robert Gatcombe, who operated the projection machine.

President Lucius E. Jones introduced five visiting Rotarians, Harry A. Thompson of Boston, William Cullen of Lewiston, William F. Perry of Keene, N. H., Allison G. Baldwin of Brockton, Mass., and Frank E. Poland of Boston. Lieut. (j.g.) Herbert Ellingwood of Rockland was guest of a member. Walter E. Bowe, chairman of the Rotary committee, co-operating for the V-J Day celebration, gave an interesting report of the progress of the observance arrangements.

Fifty-seven were present. The song session was conducted by Allan F. McAlary, with Stafford M. Congdon at the piano.

Sees Little Hope

Republished by request is the following editorial which appeared in Friday's Boston Herald:

"The growing agitation for a new Boston charter is a reminder that the city has never had a very satisfactory form of government. The first charter, which dates back to 1823, seems to have been designed to effect as little change from the town form of government as possible. The Mayor was required to be vigilant in having the laws executed and to recommend measures for the improvement and ornament of the city. All the other powers permitted to the corporation were vested jointly either in the mayor and the aldermen, or the mayor and the common council. He could not remove or appoint officials, veto legislation or, in general, exercise very much control.

"Despite its obvious defects, this form of government remained until 1885, when some patchwork revisions put more responsibility in the hands of the Mayor but left many gaps. The first work of the original Finance Commission when it was appointed in 1907 was to revise the charter, and the result, with numerous amendments, is the one in force today. This goes to the other extreme, by conferring almost the entire administrative responsibility on the Mayor.

"Philadelphia, which copied our 1909 charter, made the same discovery. After its adoption, that city put a good man into City Hall and got one term, and only one, of good government, with a lower tax rate and lower valuations. He was defeated for a second term, and Philadelphia was back where Boston was and is.

Mr. Pillsbury graduated from Gorham High School in 1938 and completed the four-year junior high school course at Gorham Normal School in 1942. He was employed in the South Portland shipyard until 1944, when he commenced teaching in the Grammar School at Wauregan, Conn. He is now teaching mathematics in the Unionville (Conn.) Junior High School. Mr. Pillsbury is the son of Mrs. Merton E. Flood of Gorham and the late George Pillsbury. The wedding date has not been set.

This And That

By K. S. F.

"We are closing in on the Japs, but we are a lops, hard way from the final victory over them, which is the only thing we can accept," Admiral Kelley said.

I had five answers to my asking for the poem "Maine" and who wrote it. One was from Mrs. Charles Emery and the one below:

MAINE
You're just a rugged, homespun State
Perched on the nation's edge,
A stretch of woods, of fields and lakes,
Of ocean-pounded ledge.
But rugged deeds and rugged men
You're nurtured for your own;
Much good the world has harvested
From broadcast seeds you've sown.
And do, we love you, rugged State,
We love your smiling skies.
We love you for your deep piled snows,
Your jagged coast we prize.
We love you for the lofty seas,
You've reared 'neath heaven's dome
But—best of all, we live you
Maine,
Because you're Maine—and Home!

Lester Melcher Hart.

Methyl alcohol poisoning from bootleg liquor killed 138 American soldiers in France and Germany from Feb. 1 to July 10, the Army chief surgeon's office has said. Troops were warned to be careful of their liquor sources.

The number of deaths, the statement said, was higher for that period than the number of deaths from communicable diseases for all American troops on the Continent.

Pottfield Pickle
Three pints chopped green tomatoes, 3 pints chopped red tomatoes, 3 pints chopped cabbage, 3 pints chopped onions, 6 chopped red peppers, 2 bunches chopped celery, 1/2 cup salt.

Mix together; let stand overnight. In the morning drain and add: Two quarts vinegar, 3 cups sugar, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon cloves, 1/2 cup white mustard seed. Cook one-half hour or longer. Seal in hot jars.

This is good with fish, cold meat, baked beans or to mix with cream cheese for sandwiches.

Fair Warning

The severe looking young female tossed her head and sniffed. "Oh, I suppose I have me out," she acknowledged disdainfully. So the distressed lady tremblingly decided to engage her. The last housemaid she had been obliged to send away because of her utter uselessness. But at the end of the first week the lady ventured a sweet and mild remonstrance.

Clotilda, every afternoon and every evening you have been out and now you demand all day Sunday. What time do you think is properly mine, at the high wages I pay you? The voice of the maid rose high as she exclaimed: "Didn't I tell you on the first day, I had me out?"

At The Theater
But, my dear, said the patient husband with a smile, did you notice how willing the lady ahead was to remove her hat so persons behind could have a full chance to see? Pretty wife, laughing maliciously said, I would if my hat was a last season's one.

Army Air Force and usher, Coxswain Zig Pistochini, U. S. Coast Guard. Thomas Hill sang "Oh Promise Me," and "I Love You Truly" before the ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by Mr. Shulkin of San Francisco.

The bride was attired in a white satin and net wedding gown with a sweetheart neckline and heel train. She wore the Juliet finger-ring veil previously worn by the matron of honor. The bride carried a semi-old-fashioned bouquet of white roses.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the reception room of the church with about fifty relatives and friends in attendance. Mrs. Eaton is a graduate of Malta High School and the State Normal College of Dillon, Montana. She taught several years in Glasgow, Montana. She was employed at the Spokane Air Depot, Spokane, Washington and for the past year has been with the Wells Fargo Bank and Union Trust Co. of San Francisco.

He went overseas in March 1943 and was in England for 27 months with a unit of the 8th Air Force. He holds the Presidential Unit Citation and seven battle stars. No plans for the future have been made as M. Sgt. Eaton is being retained in the service at present.

Ludwick, who has been swimming counselor and secretary at Highmeadows Camp, Boothbay, the past eight weeks, returned home this weekend and has resumed her teaching position at Rockland High School. On Cruiser Houston

Lieut. Annis of Rockland in Heroic Group Which Weathered Torpedo Strikes

Lieut. Elliott P. Annis, USN, 34 of 16 Lawn avenue, Rockland, has received the Commendation Ribbon for outstanding service aboard the cruiser USS Houston. It has been announced by the Navy Department. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Moses P. Annis of the Rockland address. His wife, Veronica, and their two-year-old son, Joseph, are living at 93 Russell street, Brooklyn.

He was one of the heroic group of 200 officers and men who weathered two torpedo strikes while aboard the cruiser last October in action off the island of Formosa, and then endured a 2,200-mile voyage under tow in the Pacific before temporary repairs permitted the vessel to continue, under her own power, to Pearl Harbor, and then to the New York Navy Yard in Brooklyn for permanent repairs.

Damaged so heavily that Captain Behrens originally gave orders to abandon after the first torpedo from a Japanese plane struck amidships and exploded in the no. 1 engine room, the Houston carried on, her remaining officers and men determined to bring her in. The second torpedo, two days later, further disabled the warship when it struck astern. Both attacking planes were shot down, as were six others during the two attacks.

A divisional officer aboard, he was in charge of the ship's boilers and was in the forward fire room when the first torpedo struck. "Lights went out immediately," Lieut. Annis said. "We were in oil and water to our knees. We secured the fires as quickly as we could and got out."

Lieut. Annis, a former enlisted man, is a veteran of 16 years continuous active duty. He was aboard the cruiser Marblehead when she was hit in the Java Sea in 1942 and received the Silver Star Medal for successfully combating large fires set off by the attack.

The lieutenant was born in Deer Isle. He attended Deer Isle High School and entered the Navy in March, 1929.

His decorations include the three theater ribbons, the American Defense ribbon, the China Service Medal, the Good Conduct Medal and the Philippine Liberation Ribbon. In addition to his Silver Star and Commendation Ribbon.

MY ROCKLAND

(By James E. Rhodes, 2d)

(Second Installment)

I have to make frequent trips to Fairfield, Connecticut, as I am Chairman of the Board of Directors of a corporation there. Fairfield is one of the most beautiful of the many lovely Connecticut towns. It is a suburb of Bridgeport, a leading manufacturing city and is to a certain extent a suburb of New York.

All of Fairfield is beautiful, but a particularly beautiful section of the town is that part of the hinterland which is known as "Greenfield Hill."

One of the most prominent citizens of Fairfield, and one of the most civic minded men there, is Maynard S. Bird, formerly of Rockland, and just as much of a Rocklander as myself, if not more so.

He has lived there for a number of years, and is interested in everything that is for the good of the town and the community in general. It is no exaggeration to say that his background in public affairs in Maine, particularly as a member of the Legislature there in Maine many years ago, and as a member of the Republican State Committee, is now bearing full fruit for the benefit of his present domicile in Connecticut and the State in general. In addition to this is his large business experience.

Since I have been going down to Fairfield I have always wanted to contact Maynard. My trips down there have been hurried, and I have been unable to see him, but on a recent trip there I told my fellow directors that I wanted particularly to see Maynard and that I would take all the time that would be necessary for me to do so. They very kindly invited him to take lunch with us. Surely had a delightful time at lunch, and later in his beautiful book-lined living room in his home on Greenfield Hill, Maine at the turn of the century has never received fuller consideration than this subject did when we were together.

I want to say that I was particularly interested in the pictures which Maynard has in his den. In addition to pictures of his father and mother he has pictures of several vessels there, some of which were distinctive to Rockland. Among them are pictures of the "Sidney M. Bird," and the "Almon Bird," the loss of which later vessel I can just remember. I believe that this vessel foundered at sea in the Winter time, that her captain was Clarence A. Packard, who never recovered from the exposure of the shipwreck, as his feet were frozen and he was ever after disabled on this account. This wreck was one of the epics of the sea. Another picture was that of the clipper ship "Red Jacket" in the ice off Cape Horn, a very familiar picture of a ship of which Rockland has always been proud.

Among other matters that Maynard and I discussed, was that of the Rockland boys who have gone out into the world and made good in a large way. I don't know why we didn't also include the girls who have gone out and made good, but I guess that we simply didn't have the time. With Maxine and Gertrude Elliot and Edna St. Vincent Millay to lead I think that we could have gotten up a formidable list of girls. Personally I think that it is a severer test to make good at home, where one is known root and branch, than it is to make good in a strange locality, but, nevertheless, the test of success seems to be in making good outside rather than in making good at home. Rockland has reason to be proud of its sons and daughters, both those who have gone out and made good and those who have made good at home.

To speak of only a few of those boys in whom Rockland takes pride because they have made good, I might say that Maynard mentioned Fred Fales, the two Lords, Herbert M. and Kenneth P., both Generals in the army, and one of them Director of the Budget of the United States, Arthur B. Richardson, John May, Raymond Pierce, Charlie Littlefield, Admiral A. S. Snow, Harold Haskell, William Bird, and Adriel U. Bird. This list might be extended indefinitely.

It may seem egotistical in me to write these recollections in the first person, but I want to disclaim any such intention. I am not the central figure in anything that I may relate to, and in most of the events about which I may write, I played a very minor part, or no part at all. It is simply a matter of convenience for me to write in the first person. I do not know now just how many installments I may write, but I have some very definite ideas as to some of the subjects which I will discuss, and I will announce the next succeeding subject at the close of each paper. The next subject about which I will write will be "The High School Graduation."

Educational Club

Hears the "Militant Church" Discussed—Dr. Walker's "In Memoriam"

On Thursday Mrs. Leah Fuller entertained the Woman's Educational Club at her lovely home on Broadway, and everyone enjoyed the fine program which was presented.

The subject, "The Church Militant" was the center of thought, and Nathan Berliawsky was the first speaker. Having had much experience with people in many walks of life, Mr. Berliawsky said he believed the church should take an active part in all community life, and in every activity. Church members, especially, he pointed out, should think carefully about every project undertaken; they have an obligation to try, to the best of their ability, to know the character of every man running for public office.

Everything requires thought. We should think and plan carefully for the post-war world. We should avoid "double-talk," and study in detail affairs and plans in foreign countries. In this, right thinking counts most of all. And in our own country, Mr. Berliawsky concluded, "vote with thought."

Continuing the subject, Dr. Bordeaux-Sisco spoke of the separation of Church and State, in which she firmly believes. The church, set apart, has a special work of its own, and, every member should contribute a share in this work.

Mrs. Rich believes the church should fight against all poverty, disease, sin (or crime) and ignorance.

Mrs. Jennie White said that every church member should take an active part in the real work to be done, to bring in the Kingdom in this world.

Mrs. Emma Bradstreet, not liking the word "militant," believes in a church strong in its faith in God as a Loving Father, as shown by Jesus, and feels that Love can point a better way, if followed by every Christian.

Current events brought a discussion on Pearl Harbor, and the atomic bomb.

The Critic's report contained the words detail, debauch, decadent, either, era. A "quiz" on "Some American women who have chalked up 'firsts' in different fields," was conducted by Mrs. Rich.

Dr. William H. Walker in the evening, gave a scholarly lecture on Tennyson's "In Memoriam." This lecture was one of five prepared by Dr. Walker, the others being on "Job," "Dante," "Wilton" and "Browning." The loss of his dearest friend Arthur Hallam had an abiding influence on the mind of Tennyson, and gave rise to the group of poems, many stanzas of which were quoted by Dr. Walker.

In these poems the poet asks many profound questions as to the meaning of life. But during the receding clouds of sorrow over the death of his friend, Tennyson's faith

Rockland League Of Women Voters Have Made Thorough Study

The Rockland League of Women Voters has for over three years studied the Council Manager Form of Government and with a two-thirds vote, wish to go on record endorsing the Council Manager Form of Government for Rockland. Dorothy G. Lawry, President.

The National League of Women Voters endorsed the Council Manager form of Government for American cities after concentrated study of experts, necessitated by the notorious condition of many cities because of mismanagement.

About 30 years of experience and experimentation have convinced the League that it was right. The rapid spread of this non-partisan form of government has found adherents in many Maine cities and towns. A small Council elected at large from an informed and public spirited people, a city manager, especially educated for the job and preferably not a resident at the time of his election, and hence with no political needs to fulfill, is the most approved form. The management of the finances of a city requires as much knowledge as that of a large business corporation. Education, health, recreation, city planning and the development of business opportunities should not be a football of local politics. Police and Fire Departments need expert management also, divorced from politics. Any city adopting a new plan needs a body of interested, informed citizens to watch its administration, induce the most capable people to run for office, and protect it from the designs of self-seeking politicians. Public office must be a public trust if we are to maintain a high standard in civic life.

never falters. The central thought of the poems is that Love is immortal, and we get our faith from what is highest in us. Tennyson was the first poet to recognize the social evils of his age, and his "In Memoriam" contains the first tribute to Christ in lyric poetry.
